

Things I Love to Draw

By Jenea

My name is Jenea and I love to draw. The first cartoon I drew was “Hello Kitty” and I started to love drawing. I started to draw when I was six, so I’m pretty good now.

The cartoon that inspired me is “Sailor Moon,” and “Card Captures.” I really couldn’t read the credits, so I didn’t get to know who drew the cartoons that inspired me so much.

The things I draw are mostly anime stuff like Inu Yasha, Cowboy Bebop, Sailor Moon, Yu Yu Haku show, and Dragon Ball GT.

I love to draw some real things also, ‘cause I’m not an anime freak. I know that a lot of people see me draw in class, but that is only when it is “single silent reading.”

Some people, actually most people, like my drawings, because most of them are kids just like me. And because most of them like watching the shows on TV.

What I like most about drawing is that a lot of people admire them. And if they don’t, then that’s okay, too. What I hate the most about drawing is that some people think that I trace, and I don’t.

So if you know my name and you ask me to draw something for you, then I’ll probably draw it for you, but you have to give me a picture of it and then I can draw it.
